

REGISTER FOR

WATER, SOIL, & HEALTH

SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITY
INTERVENTIONS

What does it take to bring together local communities, researchers, professionals, and government officials to build robust, sustainable health initiatives?

Engaging with a range of stakeholders from different backgrounds and varying incentives is challenging in any context. Especially when building long-term, sustainable environmental change. Learn from practitioners across communities, academia, industry and government who are tackling some of our biggest environmental challenges and how they've aligned to create win-win solutions.

The course is free to join, and students can receive a certificate of participation upon completion of the course.

APRIL 2021

& ON DEMAND

In collaboration with:

Register at:

ONLINE.SGU.EDU/WATER-SOIL-HEALTH